

AKI provides funds to The Six Freedoms-Ghana to rescue and care for abandoned and mistreated horses.

AKI's core values influence all we do:

- We believe that animal welfare has no boundaries.
- We believe that improving conditions for animals goes hand-in-hand with improving conditions for people in our AKI partner countries.
- In all we do, we show respect and understanding for the human community because working in animal welfare in AKI countries means working closely with the people who so rely on their animals.
- We believe that our Partner Organizations are best placed to decide how to use AKI funds and are free to use them for their priority needs; our role is to oversee the use of AKI funds to ensure they are used wisely for animal welfare purposes only.

Donate to AKI today if you've felt powerless to help distressed animals in a country you've visited, if you're interested in helping animals beyond your borders, and if you want to help animals where the help is needed--and can accomplish-- most.

ABOUT AKI

AKI supports existing animal welfare organizations-our Partners and Grantees-in poor countries with a focus on Africa. Because there are so many competing needs and so few donors to animal welfare causes, these organizations are unable to raise sufficient funds within their own countries. Yet the work they do is essential for improving the lives of animals.

AKI raises funds for and sends supplies to our Partner Animal Welfare Organizations. To reach even more organizations, we sponsor an annual Africa-Based Animal Welfare Organization Grant Program, the only grant program that targets African animal welfare groups. Our programs are fully funded by donations from individuals.

AKI has a due diligence process that ensures donor funds are spent only for animal welfare and that allows donors to track how our Partner Organizations and Grantees use donations.

You and AKI....partnering with animal welfare organizations in poor countries. Together we can improve the lives of the most vulnerable animals around the world.
